The Inevitable Happens on the "Back 40"

It was bound to happen, in fact it was the original object of the installation of the "Back 40," the miniature game preserve behind my house. Even so, it was a jolt when the inevitable finally happened.

As you know, my pair of Canada Geese hatched a gosling the Summer of 1969, now a fully-grown gander nearly 2 years old. The old folks are pinioned—that is, the tips of the wing bones have been clipped—but any offspring are left untouched, free to join the overhead V-formation of Honkers migrating to Canada about now.

Well, that's what happened.

No forwarding address—no nothing—just gone.

I checked the Back 40 thoroughly this Tuesday morning to be sure, and now I am certain I am back to just the original pair of Canadians.

I sensed something was wrong Monday night. The old folks came up to within hand's reach—as if to say, "Have you heard from him? Did he say anything at all? All we know is he left home."

And so he had.

Junior was a bachelor. He hung around all last year and resisted the tempting cry of the V-flight heading for Canada.

But at the age of almost 2 he finally realized he wasn't getting any younger, and if he expected to latch onto a dolly all his own he'd have to go where the dollies are. So he took off.

That's the paradox of Nature. Humans about now are looking eagerly for Summer. But wildlife, like lonesome Junior, is heading for Canada where it's still Winter.

The only thing I regret is that I can't interview Junior after his first all-day flight. He'll be whiffed, I know, for he left home vastly overweight. Like the armed services, however, his fellow travelers in the Flying V formation will whip him into first-class condition before the week is out.

Legend has it that the Canadian Honker mates for life, and that sooner or later he returns to visit the place where he was hatched.

I've got a soap opera serial going. All I can do is wait and see. Perhaps next Autumn Junior will fly into the Back 40 and introduce his wife to the old folks.

I wish him luck.

Strangler of Boston Back in Action

BOSTON (AP) — The bodies of two women apparently strangled with the cord of an electric iron were found in an apartment Monday night.

One of the women was Mrs. Theresa French, 29, a secretary who had lived in the apartment for more than four years.

The other women was believed to be her roommate.

Between June, 1962 and January 1964 there was a series of Boston stranglings in which 13 women between the ages of 19 and 75 were slain.

Albert DeSalvo, then 37, a former mental patient, claimed to be the strangler but was never brought to trial because the state said there was no evidence other than his story. He later was sentenced to life imprisonment on unrelated charges.

Surrenders in Missouri

CAMPBELL, Mo. (AP)—Billy Wayne Pike, 44, of Piggott, Ark., surrendered to Arkansas authorities Monday afternoon after allegedly being involved in a shooting incident near Campbell, Mo.

Prosecutor Charles Baker of Dunklin County said a first-degree murder charge would be filed against Pike in connection with the shooting death of James H. Johnson, 68, of Campbell.

Can't Jail Poor for Not Paying Fines

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that a man may not be imprisoned merely because he is too poor to pay a fine.

The decision apparently would knock down statutes and affect countless prisoners in virtually every state, county and city in the nation where local law provides that indigents "work out" unpaid fines in jail.

The court acted in the case of Preston A. Tate of Houston, Tex., who was unable to pay $425 worth of traffic fines and was taken to the Houston prison farm to work it out at $5 per day.

Last June the high court overturned an Illinois law which would permit a person to be imprisoned longer for an unpaid fine than he would have been under the maximum jail term for the same offense.

$300 Million Road Bonds Vote Approved

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A bill that would call a special election May 18 on a $300 million highway construction bond issue won easy approval Monday in the Arkansas House, which had refused a year ago to endorse similar legislation.

The House passed the bill 88-0 with no debate and sent it on to the Senate for consideration.

Rep. Preston C. Bynum of Siloam Springs, who had offered the bill to the House, said the bond proposal would accelerate the state's highway building program by 10 to 15 years.

The bonds would be retired over a 30-year period with gasoline tax revenues. The bill does not include an increase in the gasoline tax to support the bonds.

Under the proposal, the state would receive 70 per cent of the bond proceeds and the cities and counties would each receive 15 per cent, or $45 million.

The cities would receive their

Court Takes Up Issue of Separating State From Church Schools

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court confronted an invisible but formidable wall today, the one separating church from state.

Beginning with a case from Connecticut, the justices set arguments on whether the wall should stand in the way of public aid to church schools, now in excess of $100 million a year.

The First Amendment, ratified in 1791, directs: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

This put up the wall between church and state. But it didn't settle the struggle between those who would strictly separate the two worlds and those who would have the public aid religious institutions, at least indirectly.

At the Supreme Court the recent trend has been to view the amendment primarily as a command that the government be neutral toward religion.

As a result, a New York law requiring public school systems to lend textbooks to private and parochial students was upheld 6 to 3 in 1968.

Last May, in a 7-1 decision, the court approved tax exemptions for church property used for worship. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said the exemption is a form of "benevolent neutrality" by government toward religion and does not violate the command against "establishment of religion."

On the practical side, resources for public schools are strained. Many parochial schools say they will have to close if public aid is cut off. This could divert nearly five million pupils to public schools and add about $3.5 billion a year to their operating budgets.

Senate Against Nixon Plan, Praises Mills

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Senate approved on voice vote Monday a resolution opposing President Nixon's proposed revenue sharing program and commending Rep. Wilbur D. Mills' opposition to the program.

Sen. Morrell Gahtright of Pine Bluff, sponsor of the resolution, said the plan at first seemed a wise one, but that after attending six national seminars on it he had learned enough to oppose the proposed program.

"The people of Arkansas are being burdened to the ground by federal taxation," he said, warning that revenue sharing could lead to more or at least thwart a reduction.

Ladder of Success in This Day and Time Seems Little Longer

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The average man loses only eight buttons a year off his clothing. If all bachelors knew this, fewer of them would rush into matrimony so young just to solve this problem.

It takes so long to get to the top today that you get the feeling they've made the ladder of success longer. They haven't, the population explosion has just made the rungs more crowded.

There's something wrong with a society in which a woman will uncomplainingly pay $20 to have her dog groomed but shriek to high heaven if she has to dole out $1.50 to her husband so he can get a ham sandwich for lunch.

Few things leave us more frustrated than an unfinished sneeze.

A truly modest woman is one who wears a new hat to church and then sits in the rear pew so she won't attract attention. But in the long history of religion has this ever happened?

When you see a group of retired gaffers engaged in animated conversation on a park bench, you are likely to think they are exchanging old memories. But it is far more likely that they are discussing kidney stones and what is the best thing to do about them.

Remember when the wife carried the baby and walked three steps behind her husband during a walk? Now she goes first, three steps ahead of her husband, and he carries the baby. This is liberation?

The odds are about even that if the pretty new girl in the stenographic pool doesn't get an interesting date within two weeks, she will take the first day off at the start of the third week to look for a job in an office that provides more action.

If you found a $5 bill dropped on the seat of a cab by the previous passenger, would you offer to share it with the driver? Cabbies say two out of five men would—but that five out of five women would quietly put it in their purse and say nothing about it.

Isn't it odd that it breaks a man up to see a woman cry over her troubles, but he only feels annoyed if she has the courage to curse them?

Count that morning lost, count that afternoon absurd, at which during the office coffee breaks no scandalous gossip is heard.

Mine Workers President Indicted

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — W.A. "Tony" Boyle, president of the United Mine Workers, was indicted today by a special federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy, embezzlement and making illegal political contributions of $49,250 from union funds.

Included among recipients of the contributions was $30,000 to a dinner for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in 1968 and various others.

Two other United Mine Worker officials named in the same indictment were John Owens, secretary-treasurer, and James Kmetz, director of UMW's political arm, the Non-Partisan League.

Atty, Gen. John N. Mitchell said the 13-count indictment was returned in U.S. District Court here.

Boyle was charged in one count with embezzling $5,000, in

One Issue in Way of Rail Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators for railway workers and management were reported only one obstacle away from settlement of a nationwide railstrike threat today as they resumed negotiations at the Labor Department.

Assistant Secretary of Labor W.J. Usery Jr. said Monday proposed revision of work rules was the last major obstacle to settlement. Rail management has claimed the proposed revisions are necessary to efficient operation. The union says the rules would eliminate thousands of jobs.

The 190,000 United Transportation Union members are legally free to strike at any time but union president Charles Luna said Monday, "We shall stay at the bargaining table so long as progress is being made."

Union members struck briefly in early December before Congress passed an emergency no-strike law Dec. 10. That law expired at midnight Sunday.

The UTU is the sole holdout among the four railway unions which originally struck. The other three made peace last month in settlements affecting 2343,000 workers.

Four Former ABC Workers Indicted

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Pulaski County Sheriff's office said four former employes of the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Department were arrested Monday on warrants based on indictments issued Thursday by the Pulaski County Grand Jury.

Those arrested were Earl Thomas, 30, of North Little Rock, former chief enforcement officer for the ABC; Charles U. Daunis, 23, of Little Rock, a former ABC employe; and Isiaih "Zeke" Jones, 31, and Joe Hill, 26, both of Little Rock, who were fired last fall as ABC agents.

All four were charged with illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, failing to turn over confiscated beverages, sale of liquor without a permit, sale of wine without a license, sale of wine or beer on Sunday and on-premises consumption without a mixed drink permit.

All the charges were misdemeanors except for a felony charge of possession a narcotic drug against Daunis.

Daunis posted $1,100 in cash bonds, $500 on the felony charge and $100 on each misdemeanor charge. A bail bondsman made surety bonds totaling $600 on each of the three others.

Top Guards Called to Inquiry Into Bombing of Nation's Capitol

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Debris littered the historic halls of America's legislative shrine as senators called the Capitol's top guard to an inquiry today into the bombing they said was a symbolic attack on the nation.

Investigators worked to clear shattered rooms beneath an undamaged Senate chamber while senators arranged to hear Capitol Police Chief James M. Powell's formal report on the explosion that shook their sense of security early Monday. There were no injuries.

Authorities screening rubble for clues declined to reveal whether they found anything to point toward suspects in the blast that came at 1:32 a.m., a half-hour after a male caller told a Capitol switchboard operator:

"This building will blow up in 30 minutes. You will get many calls like this but this one is real. Evacuate the building. This is in protest of the Nixon involvement in Laos."

President Nixon, speaking later in Des Moines, Iowa, said "what the violent people want (is) to frighten public officials and the American people into the place where we will not have the open buildings, the open society that we do have."

"They would like to keep the President in Washington rather than come out in the country," he added. "Well, it won't work."

While Nixon was urging upgraded security measures, Capitol police clamped down on the flow of people into the Senate wing where, according to the Capitol architect's office, damage was figured at more than $300,000.

The blast shattered windows in the aged West Front but apparently caused no serious new cracks in the crumbling, last remaining visible piece of the original Capitol structure.

U.S. Asserts Hanoi on the Defensive

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The official U.S. assessment of the American-backed South Vietnamese drives into Laos and Cambodia is that they have put Hanoi on the defensive, disrupted North Vietnamese plans for dry-season offensives and paved the way for withdrawal of more American forces.

Official U.S. military sources gave this assessment today as the U.S. Command announced another heavy bombing raid on North Vietnamese antiaircraft batteries, the South Vietnamese government announced abandonment of another base its forces in Laos had established along the Ho Chi Minh trail, and North Vietnamese troops launched fresh attacks in both Laos and Cambodia.

Assessing the results so far of the operations across the border, one official U.S. military source said:

"By the South Vietnamese seizing the initiative in the two operations, they have disrupted enemy logistics during the current dry season and thus preempted plans made during the winter for offensives in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

"North Vietnam has been placed on the defensive and has diverted large numbers of troops in defense of its supply lines as opposed to offensives.

"A continuing disruption of the enemy's supply lines would affect his future capabilities to conduct offensive operations in both Cambodia and Vietnam and at the same time enhance the Vietnamization process, provide additional time for the development of Cambodian forces and permit continued withdrawals of U.S. forces."

In contrast to the optimistic official assessment, other U.S. sources said the operation in Laos was ill conceived and poorly planned.

One source said the South Vietnamese army had not improved as much as some American generals are saying and had "bugged out" of some bases, leaving large numbers of wounded to fend for themselves.

While the official American sources said the drive had cut enemy truck traffic in the panhandle of Laos by 50 per cent in the past four days, other sources said it appeared that traffic had "picked up a little" to the west of the routes cut by the South Vietnamese ground troops.

"Traffic always slows down about this time prior to the rainy season in May," said one source. "It takes the supplies a long time to move, so they don't want to get too much in at the top of the trail. Traffic has been slowed a little due to the South Vietnamese offensive, but I don't think they're ever going to cut the trail. You'd have to put a fence up all the way across Laos."

On the battlefields today, a major fight was reported at Landing Zone Brown, 12 miles inside Laos and six miles north of Highway 9.

Discusses Wildlife

JOHN SUNDERLAND

Biologist John Sunderland of the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission told Hope Lions of game management around Hope Monday at the weekly luncheon at Town & Country.

Mr. Sunderland received his training at Harding College and Arkansas Tech. Time between the two schools was spent in the Air Force.

Game conservation or management is not new, said Mr. Sunderland who quoted from Deuteronomy advice saying, "take the eggs but leave the hen." Kubla Khan decreed a closed season on game for several months out of the year, he said.

Mr. Sunderland told the group that sustained yield is the principal object of all game management and that Teddy Roosevelt was the first man of modern times to advance this theory. He was a pioneer of present day game management. The speaker gave several rules and conditions for proper game conservation and said that the landowner is the key person in game management because he is on the site and can operate more cheaply than any agency.

Areas named in which Mr. Sunderland works were 1600 acres on Sulphur River for deer and wildlife; an area in Lafayette County on International Paper Co. land for deer; 6000 acres for waterfowl called Bois d' Arc; 40 acres north of Hope for quail and doves; 2500 acres in Howard County, 2700 acres in Pike County for deer on land owned by Weyerhouser and an area near Mena for deer in the Ouachita National forest. In closing Mr. Sunderland listed many little things an individual can do to improve his environment.

Haskell Jones arranged the program. Howard Milam, Chief Deputy Sheriff of Hempstead, was introduced as a new member. Jack Spates was guest of Lahroy Spates; Gary Formby was the guest of Dub Flowers; Chester May the guest of Jimmie Griffin; Jim Plyler, just returned from Vietnam, was the guest of his brother, Warren Plyler and Bob Brown was the guest of Harry Cagle.

Nixon Wins One Round, Loses One

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon won one round in his fight for revenue sharing but may have lost in other areas in his first major post-election appearance outside Washington.

Nixon, wife Pat and four Cabinet members journeyed to Iowa Monday for a five-hour visit aimed at promoting revenue sharing and welfare reform, major administration objectives.

The President's big gain came when Democratic Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri announced, after he and three other governors met with Nixon for two hours in Des Moines, that he was a convert to the chief executive's revenue-sharing plan.

Hearnes' shift from earlier skepticism was no small victory for the administration. The Missourian is chairman of the National Governor's Conference.

Nixon may have lost points, however, in the imprecise area of judging the turnout a president can command on the streets of a major city.

Arriving at the Iowa capitol building shortly before the lunch hour, Nixon's bodyguards detoured him at relatively high speed from the front of the hilltop structure, where hundreds —perhaps thousands—of dissidents had gathered.

The notable aspect of the anti-Nixon demonstration was that it encompassed not only obscenity-chanting youths opposed to the Vietnam war, but:

—The AFL-CIO and particularly, its "hardhat" construction workers, the men Nixon embraced as allies in the 1970 off-year campaign who now rebel at his efforts to fight inflation by trying to pare their wage gains.

—Members of the National Farmers Organization, who raised such placards as, "We Want Prices—Not Promises." And a scattering of ecologists who want Nixon to do more to protect the environment.

Medina Says Army Told Him Not to Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capt. Ernest Medina says the Army has barred him from refuting testimony by Lt. William Calley Jr. that orders to kill civilians at My Lai came from Medina.

In an action filed Monday in the U.S. Court of Military Appeals, Medina's attorneys alleged the order barring Medina from testifying against Calley was issued in writing to Capt. Aubrey Daniel, the 29-year-old prosecutor in the Calley trial.

Calley, who led the first platoon in Medina's Charlie Company, is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 Vietnamese civilians. Conviction could bring the death penalty.

Medina has been formally accused—but not referred to trial —of being "responsible for the alleged murders of Vietnamese noncombatant persons allegedly committed by members of his company." Gerald Alch, an assistant to Medina's attorney, said the specifications alleged Medina killed not less than 175 persons.

The petition filed Monday said Daniel wants to call Medina, now of Ft. McPherson, Ga., as a prosecution witness against Calley but "has, however, been directed by respondents not to do so."

Daniel could not be reached for comment. His assistant counsel, Capt. John Partin, refused comment. It was the first confirmation that Daniel wanted Medina to testify in the Calley trial.

The petition asks the Army be prohibited from bringing Medina to court-martial.

Medina's accusations against the Army Monday were echoed by Col. Oran K. Henderson, who is charged with covering up the My Lai slayings.

Henderson, in a prepared statement issued to newsmen at the Pentagon, accused the Army of trying to block his efforts to present his side of the story.

Henderson, 50, of Indianapolis, was referred to court-martial last Friday on charges he "willfully failed to conduct a proper and thorough investigation" of My Lai. He was commander of the 11th Infantry Brigade, parent unit of the task force that assaulted the South Vietnamese village.

Cigarette Tax Hike Rejected

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Senate rejected on a 25-7 vote Monday a key feature of Gov. Dale Bumpers' revised tax program, the bill to raise the cigarette excise tax five cents per package.

Sen. Ben Allen of Little Rock, sponsor of the measure, expressed hope, however, for eventual passage.

Two senators thought to be in favor of the bill — Bill H. Walmsley of Batesville and Jim Caldwell of Rogers — were out of the chamber when the roll was called on the bill.

Their votes, if favorable, would have given the bill the 27 votes needed for passage. Another senator, Carl Sorrels of Atkins, sat at his desk during the roll call but did not cast a vote.

The administration, meanwhile, passed up any attempt to get the House to vote Monday on the bill to raise most state income tax rates.

Pat Moran, a Bumpers legislative aide, said three or four representatives who support the bill were absent. "We need every 'yes' vote we can get," Moran said, explaining the delay.

The income tax bill was approved earlier by the Senate. Like the cigarette tax increase bill, support of three-fourths of the House and Senate members is needed for passage.

In the Senate, Caldwell told newsmen he missed the cigarette tax bill roll call because of a telephone call. "I told Ben I had to take the call and would be out for a minute," Caldwell said.

Walmsley was away at a funeral.

Sorrels conferred after the vote with Martin Borchert, a legislative aide to Bumpers, but said later he had not made up his mind how he would vote on the bill. "I'm thinking about it," he said.

The Senate kept the bill alive by expunging, that is erasing, the vote by which the bill had tailed to pass.

Opposing the measure were Sens. John F. Bearden Jr. of Leachville, Clarence E. Bell of Parkin, Milt Earnhart of Fort Smith, Virgil T. Fletcher of Benton, Max Howell of Little Rock, Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs and W. K. Ingram of West Memphis.

The bill would produce $9.5 million to $10 million of the $27 million Bumpers' revised tax package would produce. Allen termed it a "crucial" part of the administration's tax program.

Court Rules on Highways Through Parks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that federally funded highways may cut through public parks only in some situations.

The decision was the first interpretation after legislation, blocked construction of a six-lane interstate highway through a park in Memphis, Tenn., and directed a federal district court to "engage in a substantial inquiry" of the government's authorization of the project.

Speaking of Congress' intent in passing laws to protect the environment, Justice Thurgood Marshall wrote: "The few green havens that are public parks were not to be lost unless there were truly unusual factors present in a particular case or the cost or community disruption resulting from alternative routes reached extraordinary magnitudes."

"If the statues are to have any meaning, the secretary cannot approve the destruction of parkland unless he finds that alternative routes present unique problems.

The decision was a stunning setback to the Transportation Department, which had approved running Interstate 40 through Overton Park in the middle of Memphis and to the solicitor general's office, which defended the Transportation Department's interpretation of federal law.

First major baseball league to be formed was the National League. It was formed Feb. 2, 1876 and consisted of eight teams.

Church Over Grave of Jesus Found

JERUSALEM (AP) — A Greek archeologist announced today he has discovered remains of the original church built over the grave of Jesus.

The archeologist, Athanasios Economopoulos, said the church was built in 335 by Constantine the Great, the emperor who made Christianity the official religion of the Roman Empire.

Economopoulos said the find was made inside the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, inside the walled city of Old Jerusalem.

The Greek Orthodox Patriarchate, which controls a part of the church, decided to explore the area during restoration of the present building, he said. Economopoulos said he was engaged by the Greek government and the patriarchate.

Restoration of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre has been going on for a number of years and is expected to be completed by next year.

Hope Takes Top Honors in FFA Meet

Hope took top honors in the three Future Farmers contests—public speaking, sweetheart, and parliamentary procedure—in which Blackland Federation schools competed here.

Phil Barger, Hope High School senior, won the public speaking contest. His subject was "DDT." Second place winner was Ronnie Williams of Washington. He spoke on "Pollution."

Hope's FFA Sweetheart, Sandra Stevenson, also won a first-place trophy. She was required to make a speech and answer questions from the judges. Final selection was by delegates from each of the schools including Fouke, Rosston, Washington and the judges.

The two Parliamentary Procedure teams were a close first and second in the judging.

"They were a confident group of boys; in fact. they meant to win," Troy Buck FFA adviser, said. "We've won eight of the last ten federation contests, so they had a tradition to keep going."

Second place Team I members and their positions are Randy Byers, president; Jerry Stroud, secretary; Calvin Willis, vice president; Parker Powell, treasurer; Billy Laramore, junior adviser; William Dillon, sentinel; Scott Gunter, reporter.

Seven of these students will represent the Hope chapter at district competition the last of March at Red River Vocational School.

Judges for the event were David Grimm of Hampton, A.S. Watson of Norman, and Dr. Jack Harrington of Magnolia.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's harbinger of spring arrived Monday night: Lucille Ball's series went into reruns with a reprise of her season's opener which starred the Burtons and Liz's diamond.

Lucy, after 19 television seasons still a ratings champion, has seen production costs of her series quadruple with each episode now costing $100,000 or more. "Here's Lucy's" season is as short as possible, this year only 22 new shows were produced. Six years ago most TV series churned out 39 shows a year and rerun time generally was limited to June, July and August. Now it is in full swing by April Fool's Day.

"High Chaparral" on NBC this season was chopped to 18 episodes. The network knocked it off for a couple of midwinter months and showed instead a clutch of specials.

Michael Dann, a prophet of network doom since he left a CBS senior vice presidency to join noncommercial television's "Sesame Street" staff, recently predicted that reruns would start even earlier next season. Many series will wind up before Jan. 1, Dann said in a recent speech, and viewers will be subjected to two reruns instead of one a year.

Meanwhile, the three networks are struggling to make up tentative schedules for next season when they will be limited to three hours of prime broadcast time each night instead of the present 3½.

One of the major program shifts, announced by NBC, will be the move of its "First Tuesday," the monthly two-hour show, news department to Friday. Of course, it will be retitled. Since the program's inception in 1969 it has competed with CBS's weekly news hour, which may also be shifted to a new time spot.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

TRUTH HURTS: THE TELLER

Dear Helen:

Your parents say, "Tell the truth" but, Boy! let me tell you, the truth hurts more than a lie!

Last night my boy friend asked me to go for a little ride after school, so I told my sister to let my folks know. So far, fine.

Well, we have fun driving up and down dead-end roads and we were on one close by when he turned too short and went into a ditch. Now we COULD have got another boy to pull us out, but honest me—I said, "My dad will help." (Mom always says if we're in trouble, come to them.)

I walked home and got Dad. He brought the car and towed us back on the road. He didn't say anything, so I thought — okay.

But when I came home from school today, I discovered Mom and Dad had "discussed" the situation and decided to ground me for two weeks, and maybe not let me date my boy friend again, ever. They won't believe me when I say he wasn't being reckless, and we weren't out there making out.

If the complete truth gets you in so much trouble, it's no wonder kids lie. —ABOUT TO LOSE A GREAT GUY BECAUSE OF TRUTH

Dear ATLAGGBOT:

My IGAP ("I'm Guessing Again Perception") says you weren't grounded for more than two days. Please let me know if I'm right, okay?

Parents whose slogan is "Honesty pays," are usually honest enough to admit they were wrong. —H.

Dear Helen:

I've read about how the kids in California "turn on" naturally, through religion, and I think it's cool. But if you mention God (except in Church on Sunday) here, you're liable to be called a "Jesus Freak."

Seems like if kids with problems can solve them by prayer and real believing — and want to spread the good word around — they shouldn't be condemned. —AFRAID TO SAY SO, (WASHINGTON)

Dear Afraid:

Don't be! I've met some of these kids who "believe and aren't afraid to say so." If their happy "witnessing" ("Oh wow! God is the greatest. Why don't you give Him a try?") is "freaky," then the world needs more such "freaks." Religion has pulled many of them out of depression, drugs and hopelessness.

Moreover, the swing toward a very personal faith isn't limited to California nor to the unstable teen with big problems. For several years now I've noticed a definite "Let's get back to God" trend in my youth mail. Here's a lovely example:

Dear Helen:

For a long time I've thought about writing to you but was always afraid people would laugh at me. Now I've overcome my fear and want to share how I feel.

Ever since I first felt the power of God in my body, I've wanted to tell others how to know Him, but you keep wondering, will you be mocked?

Anyway, here goes. People: If you really want to be friends with God, stop praying those "learned" things, and just TALK to Him. It really works! Just be yourself, and discuss, communicate, let it all come out. You shouldn't always ask favors (He must get awfully tired of this). You don't even have to praise Him every other word: Friends already know you love them because you share your life with them. . .And you ask often: "What can I do to help?" — JEAN G.

Dear Jean:

Thanks for your good letter. If everyone would ask "What can I do to help?" —And stay alert for the answer, what a great world this would be! —H.

SEC Nominee Investigated About Fees

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — William J. Casey, President Nixon's beleaguered nominee to head the Securities and Exchange Commission, acknowledges the SEC has made inquiries into fees paid to his law firm by a New York racetrack of which he is a director.

Casey said the only question was a technical one on how the fees were listed in a proxy statement by Roosevelt Raceway Inc.

Casey was interviewed on the eve of a Senate Banking Committee decision on whether to reopen hearings into his confirmation. He declined to speculate on what the committee might do, but Senate sources predicted the panel would recall the Manhatten lawyer to explain a series of questions raised since his nomination Feb. 2 to succeed Hamer Budge, who resigned as SEC chairman.

The questions center on court actions involving Casey's business activities, including:

—A civil suit filed in New York federal court in 1962 alleging Casey violated the Securities Act by helping to sell unregistered stock in a small company of which he was a principal owner. Casey denied the charges but eventually settled out of court for $8,000 what he described as a "nuisance suit."

—A suit brought in New Orleans federal court by dissident stockholders of Kalvar Corp., of which Casey was once a director. The dissidents alleged a merger with a Burlingame, Calif., firm was hurriedly consummated in Louisiana after they tried to block it in California. Casey said there was no effort to evade California law.

—A plagiarism suit brought against Casey and a publishing house, Prentice Hall. Casey produced Monday night a trial transcript, sealed for nine years, to support his version of the outcome of the case. The judge's recollection, disclosed Sunday, conflicted with the account Casey had given the Banking Committee earlier.

The White House, meantime, said Monday President Nixon is firm in his support of Casey. Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the issue has been studied, and in no way do we feel this disqualifies him."

In the interview, Casey said "there has been some discussion between Roosevelt Raceway and the SEC," but added he didn't know whether the matter still was pending.

Roosevelt Raceway agreed to pay Casey's firm $60,000 a year for four years starting in 1967 to settle a $240,000 bill incurred up to that time.

The SEC staff raised the possibility of a violation of securities regulations by the company's failure to spell out in detail in its proxy statement that the $60,000 payment was part payment of a $240,000 debt.

HaywoodWins Round in Cage Fuss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spencer Haywood has won the latest round in his war with pro basketball. But while the National Basketball Association has him on its mind, it's also thinking of bigger and better things.

Haywood, Seattle's controversial star who jumped to the SuperSonics from Denver of the rival American Basektball Association earlier this season, won U.S. Supreme Court permission Monday to return to action with the NBA club.

The league, which contends he is violating its rule barring a player whose college class has not been graduated, was granted a preliminary injunction last month by the U.S. Circuit Court in San Francisco, preventing Haywood from playing.

Meanwhile, the NBA announced it will meet Wednesday in Chicago to discuss the latest Haywood happenings, and to consider the 1971-72 schedule and review plans for televising this season's playoffs—which for the first time in league history are to include at least seven prime-time games.

"Of course we'll certainly abide by the court's decision," said NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy, adding, "We'll be discussing it with our attorneys first thing in the morning."

Kennedy also predicted in a magazine article that within 10 years the NBA will have four expansion teams in Europe—two in Italy and one apiece in Spain and Greece.

He added that present plans call for the league to go from 17 to 20 teams by 1975 with the Southwest and Mexico primary targets and Hawaii a possibility. "The eventual goal is 28 teams."

Kennedy said the league could have two teams operating in Italy next season but it wouldn't be practical to go international until air fares are cut and there are four European teams to provide scheduling continuity.

And he acknowledged that recent expansion has caused a dilution of talent—but added that "the competitive gap in basketball is a temporary problem because one man can turn the situation around much faster than in any other game."

He referred to Milwaukee's 7-foot-1 center Lew Alcindor, who lifted the Bucks to 56-26 and the runner-up spot in the East after a last-place 27-55 the year before.

Then he pointed out that Cleveland's first-year Cavaliers, plodding along with a dismal 12-60 mark, will have a crack at Jacksonville's 7-2 Artis Gilmore in the upcoming college player craft.

Southern S., Ouachita Square Off

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Ouachita Baptist University and Southern State square off tonight in the championship game of the NAIA District 17 playoffs at Pine Bluff.

In action Monday night, Ouachita defeated Arkansas Tech 94-89 in overtime and Southern State slipped by Henderson 68-65.

Ouachita survived a Tech rally to take the game in overtime. The score was knotted at 83-all at the end of regulation play.

Ouachita led 47-35 at the half, but Tech came back to tie the score. Tommy Patterson was the leading scorer for Ouachita with 30 points. Terry Hankton had 24 to pace Tech.

UCLA Still Rated Best in Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Associated Press major college basketball rankings underwent a wholesale shakeup this week and more may be in store after Monday night's upsets and close calls.

After collecting 23 first-place votes and 692 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters, top-rated UCLA barely squeaked past Washington 71-69 for a 22-1 mark.

Marquette and Southern California remained second and third, respectively, and both were in action Monday. The unbeaten Warriors received 14 first-place votes and 676 points, narrowing the 24-point gap of a week ago. They defeated Creighton 66-61 for their 24th consecutive triumph.

Southern Cal, which polled 568 points, ran its record to 21-1 with a 75-74 decision over Washington State. Kansas, 22-1, received the other first-place vote and 531 points. That enabled the Jayhawks to move up one notch to fourth, trading places with unbeaten Penn.

South Carolina climbed from seventh to sixth supplanting Jacksonville, which fell to ninth on the heels of Saturday's one-point loss to Houston. Western Kentucky and Kentucky each moved up two spots but the former lost to Austin Peay 96-94 Monday night while the latter whipped Auburn 102-83 and clinched the Southeastern Conference title.

Despite last week's overtime loss to Marquette, Fordham sneaked into the last spot in the Top Ten.

The Second Ten consisted of Duquesne, North Carolina, Ohio State, Tennessee, Houston, Notre Dame, Long Beach State, Indiana and La Salle tied for 18th and Utah State.

Monday night, Tennessee downed Vanderbilt 79-59, West Texas State upset Houston 86-77, Notre Dame nipped Dayton 83-82 and Rider stunned La Salle 84-82 in overtime.

Nichols Wins Lema Memorial Tournament

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Nichols, registering three birdies, three bogeys, two pars and an eagle, won the fifth annual Tony Lema Memorial Pro-Am Golf Tournament with a six-under-par 66 Monday.

The Akron, Ohio professional birdied the last three holes while shooting nines of 34 and 32, tying the course record set by Randy Glover in the 1968 Lema event.

Nichols' eagle came on the par-5, 506-yard third hole, which is known as the "Eagle Hole" because of a bald eagle perched in a tree along the fairway.

Battle on for Bids to NCAA Meet

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's like trying to squeeze a size 15 foot into a size 10 sneaker.

Some of the toes have to stick out—but there's another basketball shoe waiting to be filled.

The scramble to achieve at-large berths in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's postseason collegiate championships and the National Invitational Tournament—both of which will be announced today—reached a climax Monday night.

Victories by second-ranked Marquette over Creighton, No. 16 Notre Dame over Dayton and West Texas State over 15th-rated Houston strengthened the winners' chances of nabbing one of the 10 independent spots in the NCAA tourney March 13-27.

But Houston, and the ninth-ranked Jacksonville Dolphins they beat Saturday night, still have a solid shot for bids, along with plenty of other independents including 10th-ranked Fordham, No. 11 Duquesne, Villanova, Massachusetts, Georgia Tech, Utah State, New Mexico State, No. 17 Long Beach State, 18th-rated LaSalle—an upset loser in overtime against Rider—and several longshots.

The remaining 15 NCAA berths will be occupied by collegiate conference champions—and six of them have already been filled.

They are fourth-ranked Penn from the Ivy League, No. 7 Western Kentucky in the Ohio Valley Conference, eighth-ranked Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference, Miami, Ohio, in the Mid-American, Weber State in the Big Sky and University of the Pacific in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Some of those who don't make it in the NCAA's eyes will still be eligible for the NIT's 16 openings in the March 20-27 action at New York's Madison Square Garden—as will the runnersup in a number of the conferences.

That field of candidates includes Dayton, LaSalle, UC Santa Barbara, Memphis State, St. John's of New York, Providence, Holy Cross, Syracuse, Rutgers, Massachusetts, St. Bonaventure and Hawaii.

In Monday night's fireworks UCLA and Southern California continued on the collision course toward their Pacific-8 title showdown with victories in the Pacific Northwest.

The top-ranked and defending national champion Bruins got another scare before nipping Washington's stubborn Huskies 71-69 on Curtis Rowe's jumper with 29 seconds to play and an insurance foul shot as time ran out. Henry Bibby topped the Uclans with 21.

And third-ranked Southern Cal, trailing 61-57 with 5:14 to go, hit 11 straight points to whip Washington State 75-64 behind Ron Riley's 21 points.

Marquette, leading by 11 at intermission, suddenly found itself trailing Creighton 55-52 midway in the second half before the Bluejays ran out of steam and fell before the unbeaten Warriors 66-61.

Western Kentucky, starting Jim McDaniels and four reserves, blew an eight-point lead to Austin Peay as two free throws by Ken Stephenson with three seconds to play gave the Governors the game 96-94 and wrecked the 39-point, 22-rebound performance by McDaniels of the seventh-ranked Hilltoppers.

No. 8 Kentucky had an easy time against Auburn, clawing the Tigers 102-83 as Tom Payne hit 30 points, then sat out the final 9½ minutes. John Mengelt hit 35 of his game-high 38 points in Auburn's futile second-half rally.

Tennessee's 14th-ranked Volunteers withstood a wave of Vanderbilt desperation fouls and a barrage of oranges by the Commodore fans in the closing minutes to wrap up a 79-69 victory behind Don Johnson's 32 points.

Ray Golson poured in 37 points as West Texas buffaloed cold-shooting, turnover-plagued Houston. The Cougars gave up the ball 18 times and hit less than 40 per cent of their field goal attempts.

Austin Carr twice brought Notre Dame back from second-half deficits and wound up with 47 points—including the four free throws and one field goal that decided it—as the Irish outlasted Dayton 83-82, snapping the Flyers' eight-game winning streak.

LaSalle's failure to hit a pair of free throws with six seconds to go sent its game into overtime and enabled Glenn Albano to hit seven clutch points that gave Rider the victory, spoiling the 39-point splurge by the Explorers' Bob Fields.

Mays Signs 2 Year Pact for $300,000

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays didn't say hey. He said okay—and by doing so the San Francisco Giants' veteran outfielder remained one of baseball's most expensive players.

The 39-year-old centerfielder, who had been holding out for a 10-year, $750,000 contract, settled Monday for a two-year pact worth more than $300,000 to head a group of three high-priced players to sign.

Frank Howard, the American League's home run and runs-batted-in champion last year, got an estimated $20,000 raise from the Washington Senators as he inked a one-year, $140,000 pact.

And Johnny Bench of Cincinnati, who had been seeking $500,000 over three years, signed a one-year contract valued at $80,000-$90,000. He had agreed to terms Sunday.

Also signing Monday were Ted Savage of the Milwaukee Brewers and Graig Nettles of the Cleveland Indians—but that still left plenty of holdouts. And one of them, Cleveland's Vada Pinson, said he might seek legal aid to get a raise.

The Giants, who paid their 39-year-old star an estimated $135,000 a year ago, didn't announce the terms of the new contract but it was believed to be worth $155,000 or $160,000 a year. The 20-year veteran batted .291 with 28 homers and 83 RBI in 1970.

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, said the board of directors had authorized him to offer a five-year contract—half the length Mays sought—at $75,000 a year.

"We have always kept Willie's contract the highest in baseball," said Stoneham's son, Peter, in announcing the agreement at the Giants' training camp in Casa Grande, Ariz. "Maybe it still is."

Carl Yastrzemski recently signed with the Boston Red Sox for an estimated $160,000.

Pinson is trying to get a $7,500 raise over his 1970 contract of $60,000. The Indians have reportedly offered a $1,500 increase to outfielder, who hit. 285 and led the club with 82 RBI last year.

He said he has asked Alvin Dark to trade him but that the Cleveland manager has refused.

He added he was in favor of Curt Flood's court challenge of baseball's reserve clause which binds a player to a team for life unless he is traded, sold or released, "and I'm certainly all for it now. The Indians have tied me up and there's nothing I can do but what they say."

Among the game's other holdouts are Tony Oliva of Minnesota and Mike Andrews of the Chicago White Sox. Oliva is reportedly seeking $100,000—about $30,000 more than the Twins are offering.

And Stu Holcomb, Chicago's executive vice president, said the club planned to invoke the rule under which a holdout may be signed at last year's salary. He said the Sox have offered Andrews, obtained from Boston in an off-season trade, a raise over his 1970 salary estimated at $36,000.

On the injury list, right-hander Jose Pena of Los Angeles suffered two fractured fingers on his pitching hand during a bunting drill and will be out for an undetermined time, the Dodgers said. And the Giants were advised by Jim Hart's physician that the veteran third baseman won't be recovered from shoulder surgery until at least May.

Mineral Spgs. Defeated in Tournament

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Taylor advanced to the quarterfinals of the Class B senior boys state basketball tournament Monday night by downing Biggers-Reno 83-67.

Taylor jumped to a 47-18 lead behind the shooting of Barry Emerson and Danny Kilrease, however, a second-half rally sparked by Pete Johnson brought Biggers - Reno to as close as 14 points.

Emerson finished with 26 points to lead Taylor and Johnson had 17 to pace Biggers-Reno.

In other second-round action, Dover defeated Prattsville 76-45 and Valley View defeated Mineral Springs 66-58.

John Rutherford and Joe Tubbs sparked a second-half rally that carried Valley View past Mineral Springs.

Mineral Springs led 33-31 at halftime, but Valley View used a strong fast break in the final quarter to win the game and advance to the quarterfinals.

James Mackey scored 30 points to lead Dover to victory over Prattsville. Joe Blackerby led Prattsville with 18.

State Takes Southland Title Again

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State captured its third Southland Conference basketball championship in five years Monday night with a 72-57 victory over Abilene Christian.

John Belcher, a 6-foot-9 junior, paced the Indians with 30 points as he connected on 13 of 16 field goal attempts.

The Indians pushed their season record to 15-9 and conference record to 6-2. It was ASU's second victory over the Wildcats this season.

Arkansas State led 39-36 at the half, but had to battle back from behind in the second half as the Wildcats took a 42-41 lead about four minutes after intermission.

Abilene hit almost 50 per cent from the field in the first half, but went cold in the home stretch and connected on only 24 per cent of its shots from the field in the second half.

Allan Pruett added 20 points for the Indians. Matt Scott and Kent Martens scored 15 each to pace the Wildcats.

Stephens Upsets Unbeaten Tuckerman

Stephens built up a 38-28 lead with 6:52 remaining in the game, but a strong rally paced by Raymond Bailey knotted the score at 44-all with about four minutes left.

HTT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Mr. Copy Chief nosed out Bopdavelle by a nose in a photo finish to win the $7,500 feature race at Oaklawn Park Monday.

The colt ran the 1 mile and 70 yards of fast track in 1:42 1-5 to return $15, $5.80 and $3.80.

Bopdavelle returned $4 and $3 for second and Rapid Tim finished third to pay $3.

Mellow Duc, ridden by E. D. Keller took the early lead but Bopdavelle and Mr. Copy Chief began moving up in the back stretch and were fighting for the lead in the turn going into the stretch.

The pressure increased in the final eighth as Mr. Copy Chief and Bopdavelle pulled away from the rest of the field in a neck and neck battle going down to the wire. Mr. Copy Chief nosed out Bopdavelle in the final second.

Another four lengths back, Rapid Tim held off Bluemedal to take third place by three-quarters of a length.

The daily double combination of Patty Punkin in the first and Mr. Leonard in the second, numbers 5 and 3, paid $19.40.

The crowd of 8,463 wagered $655,612.

Bucks Have a Chance to Break Records

NEW YORK (AP) — Milwaukee's Midwest Division champion Bucks, with Lew Alcindor leading the way, have 11 chances to shatter three National Basketball Association records, the league disclosed today.

Their 61-11 record, by far the best in the NBA, puts them just seven short of Philadelphia's 1966-67 mark for the most victories in a season.

And they've extended their unbeaten string to 16, within two of the league record set last year by the champion New York Knicks.

The Bucks will have to get by Los Angeles and Buffalo before shooting for their 19th in a row Friday night in Detroit—and they've got a solid shot at it. Milwaukee has compiled a 10-2 record against those three foes.

They also just might become the first NBA club to hit more shots than they miss. The record for field goal shooting is .488, which they set last season.

So far they've hit an astounding 3,471 of 6,812 attempts for a .510 percentage and it'll take quite a slump to drop below the .500 mark. Los Angeles is a distant second at .482.

Alcindor remains the only player in the league averaging better than 30 points a game. He'll hitting at a 31.6 clip, well ahead of the tight battle for second between Boston's John Havlicek at 29.0 and Elvin Hayes of San Diego at 28.9.

Chet Walker of Chicago is closing in on another NBA mark. The nine-year veteran, leading the free throw department with an .863 percentage, has hit 47 in a row, eight away from Bill Sharman's regular-season record.

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The World Boxing Association recently withdrew its title recognition from Foster, declaring that the champion had not defended against a worthy challenger within a reasonable time.

Despite the WBA ban, Pennsylvania, a member of the world group, has sanctioned the Foster-Carroll bout as a championship contest. The New York Athletic Commission, not a member of the WBA, also is recognizing the bout in the 4,500 seat Catholic Youth Center.

The WBA now lists Vincente Rondon of Venezuela as the 175-pound champ by virtue of a sixth round knockout last Saturday night over Jummy Dupree of Jersey City, N.J. Rondon was the No. 2 and Dupree the No. 3 challengers for Foster's crown before the WBA action.

Foster, who will receive 40 per cent of an expected $40,000 gross for the Carroll fight, laughs at the WBA. "They can't take nothing away from me," he says. "I'm still champ until beaten in the ring."

The 28-year-old Foster is making the fifth defense of the title he won in 1968 from Dick Tiger. He has successfully turned back bids by Frank DePaula, Andy Kendall, Mark Tessman and Roger Rouse. Overall, the 6-foot -3 Foster is 41-5, only once losing to a light heavyweight. He last fought Nov. 18, 1970, losing by a knockout to heavyweight champion Joe Frazier in a bid for the big crown.

The 30-year-old Carroll is ranked fourth in the 175 pound division by Ring Magazine and sixth by the WBA. He's won 25 and lost 2 in a professional career begun in 1964. His only defeats were to Joe Burns some years ago, and last November to Ray Anderson, a sparring partner of Frazier. His 20 per cent of the gate — there is no telecast or broadcast — is his biggest fight pay day.

The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission announced that the three knockdown rule is being waived, and that the fight can only be stopped by the judgement of the referee. The fight will be scored by a referee and two judges on a five point per round must basis.

While Foster is a heavy favorite, the boxing buffs indicate a great respect for Carroll. Some predict he's another of those spoilers from Syracuse, referring to the recent upset victory by Billy Backus over Jose Napoles in a welterweight title fight.

Opening lead—♣ 2

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The suit-preference signal should be used any time the player can be sure that his partner won't misread it. Here is an unusual instance.

West decided to open his singleton club. We aren't sure that we approve of that sort of lead on most occasions, but this time it turned out to be the best lead to set the contract.

East was sure that the lead had to be a singleton and he saw a good chance to save the game if his partner held the ace of trumps and would know enough to lead a heart when he got in with it. There was also a sure way to get his partner to lead that heart.

East dropped his 10 of clubs at trick one. He couldn't be asking for another club lead. West could see every club in dummy. Of course, it might be a singleton 10. Under those circumstances you have to follow with your singleton.

South led a trump at trick two and West took his ace right away. He had seen that 10 of clubs and knew that it had to be a high card calling for a lead of the high side suit. So in spite of knowing the general undersirability of leading from a jack through the queen and 10 South led a heart.

East won with his king and being a greedy player led a club right back. West ruffed; put his partner in with a second heart and ruffed another club to set poor South two tricks.

What do you do now?

A—Bid four spades. You may be missing slam, but you aren't strong enough to try Blackwood and any other bid will probably lead to confusion. Bidding can't be perfect all the time.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two spades your partner has bid three diamonds over your two hearts. What do you do now?

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Mild Liquid 'Pep Pills' but .

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb: — I would appreciate an answer to my problem. A year ago I read somewhere that drinking colas in excess as a youth might make one sterile in adulthood.

I have a family of three children, ranging in age from 18, 12 and 9. They were content drinking an 8-ounce bottle of cola a year ago. Now I find them drinking a 16-ounce bottle every day as though it was water. They laugh at me when I tell them that it may affect their reproduction system in later life.

I'm sure that if I can show them in print that I am correct in stating this, I would stand a better chance of laying down the law. Too, I don't get my wife's support because she says it's like drinking water. I say it's not and I'm writing you to settle this problem.

Dear Reader — I think you must have read about the use of cyclamates in soft drinks. Cyclamates injected in rats affected the chromosomes, causing some concern that in large amounts might cause birth defects. No such effect has ever been observed in man.

You are really a lucky parent to need worry only about your children drinking too much cola these days. You and your wife must have done a wonderful job of rearing them and your concern for your children's habits is probably one reason you don't have some of the problems other parents do these days.

It is true that cola drinks are "soft drugs" just like coffee. They contain a stimulant and when used in excess can cause nervousness or even trouble with the digestive system. In a sense colas and coffee are mild liquid "go pills." They have the opposite effect from tranquilizers.

There is no evidence, however, that cola drinks affect the reproductive system. In fact, the cola generation seems to have been about as active or more so than the previous generation.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am a woman 42 years old. During an examination I was advised that my heart beat did not rise above 60. That, of course, is during normal activities. Is this unusual or serious?

Dear Reader — A slow heart rate may be normal and mean good physical condition. Rodger Bannister's heart rate at rest when he was in condition to break the 4-minute mile was less than 40.

There are some disorders of the heart that cause a slow heart rate but a heart tracing is necessary to identify them. Normal slow heart rates are often associated with longer life than fast resting heart rates.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Controversy Flares Over Baseball, Drugs

By MIKE RATHET
Associated press Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Controversy threatens to flare today when the words amphetamine and barbiturate are added to the language of baseball for major league personnel sitting down to begin the first organized drug education program in team sports history.

Initiated by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and scheduled to be conducted by Dr. Garrett O'Connor of the Johns Hopkins University Drug Abuse Center, the program is spiced with the prospect of considerable resentment from some of those ordered to attend.

"Sure there's resentment," said one club official. "A lot of people feel too much has been made of it—that a problem is being created where none exists."

One of those expressing irritation is Elston Howard, former catcher for the New York Yankees, now a coach with the club.

"This whole thing started with Bouton and Meggyesy," Howard contended, citing books written by former Yankee pitcher Jim Bouton and former St. Louis Cardinal football linebacker Dave Meggyesy that contained disputed statements about drug uses in their respective sports.

"I'm going with an open mind," Howard continued, "but I'm going to be free to ask any question I want and to say what I please. I never had any desire to use drugs. I never took anything besides vitamins and salt tablets.

"I hear people doing a lot of talk about things like 'greenies' but I have no knowledge of anyone using 'greenies'."

Howard however, acknowledged that he had heard about the statement made by pitcher Chuck Dobson of the Oakland Athleteics, who said recently he had taken 'greenies.'

And Howard, like everyone else, is fully aware of Kuhn's statement that "there has been in baseball a reasonably limited use of pills in the amphetamine and barbiturate group."

But what baseball people like Howard and Mike Burke, president of the Yankees, are concerned about is the impression being created that the sport has a major problem, which might be reflected in a battle over the direction the program takes.

"The way it sounded when it was announced was that baseball had a big drug problem and was clamping down," said Burke. "I've never seen it on our club. It just doesn't exist here."

But Burke is fully behind the program, assuming it takes the proper direction.

"We have to be wary," said Burke, "not necessarily about major league players, but about alot of kids in Vietnam and the colleges who might want to be players and have been exposed to an easy familiarity with drugs.

"I think they have to know that even soft drugs can handicap or destroy a career before it starts. In sports, where skills are so infinitely refined, any artificial stimulant throws refinement out of kilter."

The seminars scheduled by Kuhn also will be held in Tampa Wednesday and Phoenix, Ariz., March 18 for managers, coaches, general managers, farm directors, trainers, umpire supervisors and traveling secretaries.

Some Snow Expected in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow began falling in Northwest Arkansas before noon today and accumulation of up to four inches was predicted in the northern portion of the state before the snow ends Wednesday.

Showers were forecast in the southern portion of the state for tonight, possibly changing to snow before ending Wednesday. No accumulation was forecast in the southern portions.

Hazardous driving conditions are expected in North Arkansas, especially in the higher elevations.

Colder temperatures are also forecast with highs Wednesday in the mid 30s to mid 40s southern portions and in the 30s northern portions.

share on the basis of population. The bill would favor the most rural counties in the distribution of bond proceeds to the counties.

Bynum estimated the cost of the special election at $250,000, but he said the bond proposal would have a far - reaching effect on the state.

The voters defeated a $150 million highway bond program in a special election in 1965, but Bynum said the proposal failed because it had become a political issue. Then-Gov. Orval E. Faubus led the 1965 fight for the bond issue and the opposition was led by Winthrop Rockefeller, who succeeded Faubus as governor.

The House narrowly rejected a $200 million highway bond issue in the March 1970 special session.

Bynum said bond dealers had informed him that this year's bonds could be sold at a 3.75 per cent interest rate.

"The bond market is right, the time is right," the representative said.

The bonds could not be sold if the interest rate exceeded 5½ per cent. No more than 30 per cent of the bonds could be sold in a one-year period if the interest rate were between 4½ and 5½ per cent, but all could be sold at one time if the interest rate were less than 4 ½ per cent.

The House also approved two bills in Gov. Dale Bumpers' environmental protection package.

One bill, passed 83-0, would require municipalities and counties to develop solid waste management plans. It also would set standards for solid waste disposal. The other measure, approved 82-0, would empower cities and counties to issue revenue bonds for constructing, leasing or equipping disposal facilities.

The House passed a bill by Rep. B. D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock that would require churches to pay ad valorem taxes on property not used for church purposes and direct churches to pay income taxes on investments and business activities of a nonchurch nature. The vote was 65-2.

Approved 61-8 was a bill by Rep. Art Givens of Sherwood that would allow law enforcement officials to seize and sell vehicles in which contraband drugs valued at more than $25 were found.

The House voted 84-0 to approve a bill by Rep. Lloyd McCuiston of West Memphis that would create a nine-member Soybean Promotion Board. Soybean growers would be assessed for the support of soybean promotion if three - fifths of the producers approved in a referendum. The assessment would be a fourth-cent per bushel for each of the next two years and a half cent thereafter.

The representatives approved 85-0 a measure by Brandon to authorize the state to join in the proposed federal Interstate Environmental Compact.

Rep. Wayne Courtney of Forrest City persuaded the House to pass a bill defining a life sentence as 99 years. The vote was 54-10. Courtney said that inmates serving life terms can be released after seven years under current law. He said his bill would require them to serve at least 14 years.

The House approved 82-0 a bill by Rep. Felver A. Rowell Jr. of Morrilton that would allow former state Rep. Loid Sadler of Morrilton to draw legislative retirement benefits. Sadler had served nine years and nine months — four two-year terms and part of an unexpired term — and lacks three months more of service to be eligible under present law to receive the benefits, according to Rep. Gean McDonald of Sheridan.

Senate Asked to Take 26 States Off Hook

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is being asked to take 26 states off a legal hook attached to a string of federal loans made to them 135 years ago during the government's first fling at revenue sharing.

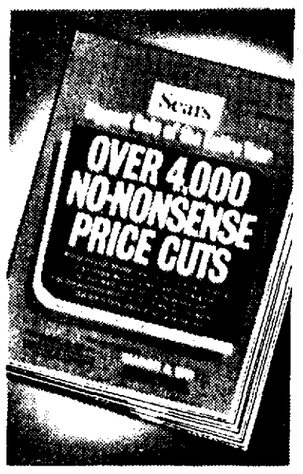

If the federal government felt like yanking in those loans with interest to boot, it could cost these states a bundle to pay the debt stemming from the $37.5 million they shared in the 1836 Surplus Revenue Act.

"There is no likelihood that this debt will ever be recalled," says Sen. J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del., "but the central problem is that the states are forced to carry it as a debt in their account books."

"It's a loan which I think should be forgiven," says Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who supports Boggs' legislation that would substitute a "grant" that Congress could not recall for "loan" in the Andrew-Jackson-era law. The Treasury Department has no objections.
